U.S. clocks will "spring forward" again on March 10 to make room for an extra hour of sunlight in the evenings as winter fades away. That also means losing out an hour's sleep Saturday night. Daylight saving time officially starts at 2 a.m. Sunday, when clocks are pushed forward one hour to 3 a.m.

When you go to bed on Saturday night, don't forget to turn your watches, alarms and microwaves forward an hour. Electronic devices, like cellphones, by default are set to automatically update the time as it changes. Standard time returns Nov. 3.

By the way, it's "daylight saving time," not "daylight savings time." DST is Singular Not Plural. I must admit that I am a guilty of this heinous crime of grammar.

TIP OF THE DAY

Rainbow Luck Treat

You'll need Rolos, Rainbow Twizzlers, crafty cellophane treat bags, and green ribbon. You can also make some "clouds" out of cotton candy. The awesome thing about the Rainbow Twizzlers is that they are actually in equal amounts of rainbow colors—like you really do get your red, orange, yellow, green, indigo, and violet. And, because you have equal numbers, you can make a whole bunch of your own little complete rainbows. Now... you can use cotton candy here if you want, either as a little cloud at the bottom of the rainbow, or as a backdrop for your rainbow. Then take a handful of Rolos and pop them into the cellophane treat bag. With the bag lying flat, fold the purple piece of licorice into a rainbow shape and slip it into the bag. Repeat with the blue, green, yellow, orange, red pieces of licorice, making your rainbow. Tie the bag with a piece of green ribbon...

CAMPGROUND CONDITIONS

I'm sure you have all had enough of us telling you how the campground conditions are, but it is essential that we keep you updated.

Camp is still covered in snow so that means so is your site. Most campground roads are clear with a layer of ice. Just because your hometown roads are clear doesn't mean your campsite is. Four wheel drive is a must and please do not expect any campers to be placed until the warm up. Speaking of warm up, Sunday will bring us some nice 50 degree RAIN!! MORE RAIN!! Bring your mud gear.

It is also best to give the office a call and be prepared instead of driving here and getting a big surprise when you didn't bring that shovel or the proper apparel.

Bulletin

Be cautious if you embark on Trail 3, the timbering project has left it quite a mess and there are deep ruts that have to be navigated. As we've noted in the most recent newsletter, please do expect a change after the "thaw". There are plans to maintain that trail and make the ruts more comfortable to travel through.
