

The Month of August will bring...

Summer is half over, its been a hot, dry few weeks. The weatherman predicted rain and we got it but now they're predicting another HOT week. If I were a weatherman, I could probably resort to some old-time weather prognostications, such as the caterpillar theory that says the color of the caterpillar denotes the harshness of the winter to come. If it has a light band in the middle, it means a mild winter bookended with a cold, snowy beginning and a late March blizzard, or vice versa if the colors are switched. Red sky at night, sailors delight; red sky in the morning, sailors take warning! If leaves fall from the trees while still green, winter will be mild. If flowers smell stronger than normal, rain is on its way! If the birds are flying high in the sky, fair weather will stay around. If you make a fire outside and the smoke goes straight up, you will have good weather. If the smoke curls and wisps then rain is on its way. I'm sure there are more. You probably have one that has been handed down through the generations from your ancestry. If I were the weatherman, I would mess up the forecast many times, but the weather itself would always be perfect and I'd get away with being wrong.

Hopefully our next two events and group ride will have nice weather.

August 6th Bonfire, 8pm @ the large day lot. If you have something burnable please ask the office before putting something on the pile.

During the day and night, we will be collecting donations through something we like to call the "Paperbag" Raffle. All proceeds collected will be donated to Hegins Valley Fire Company (they will be lighting and extinguishing the fire that night).

Bring a "campfire inspired" snack to share at the bonfire.*

WE'LL BRING THE MARSHMALLOWS!

TIP OF THE DAY

Tried-And-True Trick

If fruit isn't quite ripe and fragrant when you buy them, quick ripen them in a clean paper bag. Loosely close the bag and store at room temperature for a few days, checking the fruit daily. When one gives to gentle pressure, they are ready to enjoy.
